Objectives:

My objective is to participate in the internship that PLSA has to offer and to learn more effective communication and leadership skills for the workplace and beyond.

Experience:

Another Choice for Black Children (August 2006-December 2006)

I was responsible for ensuring that the children were safe and had a great time while their foster parents were away. I was also responsible for tutoring and mentoring the children. I also made sure that they were fed. For those who took medicine, I administered their correct dosage. I had to be creative so they would not get bored.

Jeepers Inc. (January 2006-August 2006)

My official title was Ride Operator. I was responsible for making sure that the children were safe and had an enjoyable time on each ride. I was also responsible for making sure that the place of business was clean.

Subway Inc. (May 2004-August 2004)

My official title was Sandwich Artist. I was responsible for creating delectable delights that were as appealing to the eye as they were to the customers' appetites. I was also responsible for knowing the cash register so I could charge the customers the right amount of money. I also had to make sure that the restaurant was clean at all times.

Education

2004-2005

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro

2005-2006

Central Piedmont Community College

2006-present

Johnson C. Smith University

Personality Traits

I am a hard working and motivated individual that does not get comfortable with only success. I strive to be extraordinary and a master at every craft that I embark upon. I am a philosopher and I look at life in a very different way and I have grown to be proud of that. I am a leader in the workplace and at my school because I go above and beyond menial and ordinary standards.
